

The Elizabethan

NEWS FOR TODAY!

ETERNAL KNOCKOUT

DUFF ⚡ BETH ENDS BLOODY

Yesterday morning the Scottish boxing star Duff (31) finally did away with the appalling ruler Beth (29) in a bloody boxing fight at Dunsinane Castle.

Turbulent times lay behind us. In days of a growing tyranny and a flaming up population, the rebel Duff stayed at the English court and searched for allies. And after the fascist has beaten his sick wife and nine-years-old son to death, the boxer couldn't keep himself from taking revenge anymore. Together with the English army he advanced on Dunsinane Castle covered by branches. Apparently most of Beth's people joined the avengers.

When they were entering the fortress Beth was already tied to a stake. Instead of just ramming a dagger through the barbarian's heart, Duff intended a much more cruel death for him. He challenged Beth, also an invincible boxer, to a bout. It was a merciless bout. No gloves, no referee, no rules. A mortal combat. Just the two of them in the ringside, fists and elbows were flying. Both are amazing boxers. While Beth is way bigger and appears more muscly, Duff is a man of tactic. After 11 rounds the score was drawn. With pounding hearts the spectators cheered their hero Duff in the final round. At first it looked like Beth forced him into the defensive but suddenly Duff punched him into the face and then once more against the neck. Finally the tyrant fell on the ground and couldn't move. Scotland's rescuer won by a knockout. But for a man, thirsty of vengeance, this kind of execution was still not brutal enough. He leaned over his enemy, blood running out of his mouth, he took a dagger and cut off the tyrant's head from his body. A real Messiah!

Now the head decorates the entrance to Dunsinane Castle where Duncan's son Malcom is

> Scotland's redeemer Duff triumphantly holds up the tyrant's head in front his country

THE SHINING WEATHER

	MONDAY 11 °C
	TUESDAY 6 °C
	WEDNESDAY 3 °C
	THURSDAY 2 °C
	FRIDAY 5 °C
	SATURDAY 7 °C
	SUNDAY 9 °C

The Elizabethan

ADD: You want your house to be ghost free? Then call the GHOSTBUSTERS

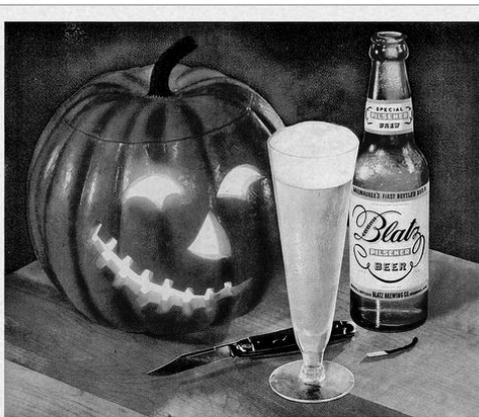

MYSTERIOUS MURDER CASE HONOURED GENERAL FOUND DEAD

No murder weapon, no witnesses, a body covered with stab wounds and unknown perpetrators. A mysterious murder case is puzzling the police of the Highland council area.

Last night a lifeless body was found 100 miles away of the Scottish President's residence. It concerns the successful general of the Scottish army Ben Q. The police are in the middle of an investigation to find out the circumstances of the death and the yet unknown perpetrator(s).

Around 10 pm, a passer-by found the corpse of Ben Q. It was lying in the bushes with stab wounds that appeared to be from a medium-sized knife. His son, who accompanied him, has not yet been found. Whether he is alive or also dead is not yet known. Rumour has it that the perpetrators are three hitmen who were sighted in the residence on the day of crime. President Macbeth's involvement in the murder cannot be excluded. Was he acting out of political motives or bloodlust? Given his current state, it seems to be within the realm of possibility. The Elizabethan remains on it.

Your face will light up, too!

Just the sight of a sparkling glass of Blatz has put a big smile on many folks' faces. And Blatz rates as refreshing as it looks, for the good old Milwaukee here has been brewed to the very peak of drink.

For 96 years, we've brewed Blatz only in Milwaukee... home of America's finest beers... and we're pleased to say that Blatz is Milwaukee's first bottled beer. If you can't get Blatz, please be patient. We're growing as fast as good-brewing and good-brewing will take us, to bring Blatz to your neighborhood...

Milwaukee's first... America's finest... Bottled beer

Where has daddy gone?

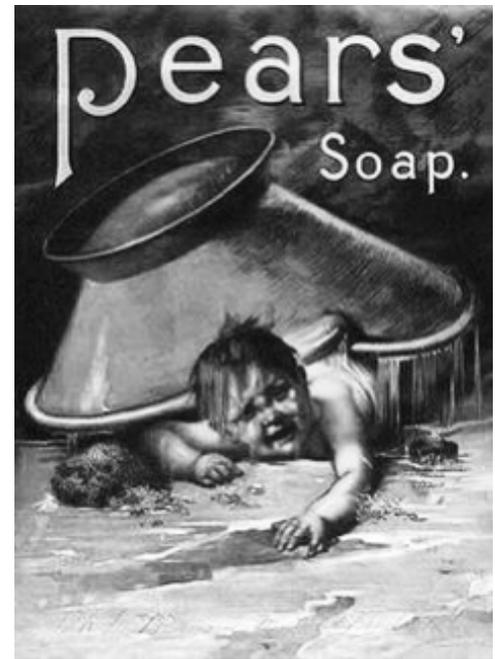

Only mother knows...

Dropson's Grinders

• Grind like a bitch with rubies! •

www.pictureisunframed.com

GHOSTBUSTERS STRIKE BACK BAFFLED COUPLE SAW SOMETHING

Yesterday evening going for a walk in the town park, a couple couldn't believe their eyes suddenly they saw a strange figure but on closer inspection there was nothing more. They couldn't explain what it was they just saw there. They said there was a person looking like a nobleman with hat and suit. However, the necessary evidence is missing since it was dark yesterday and it could have been just imagination. That of course stimulates the discussion about whether there are ghosts. Are ghosts just invented or are they really among us? If so what do you want?

The Elizabethan

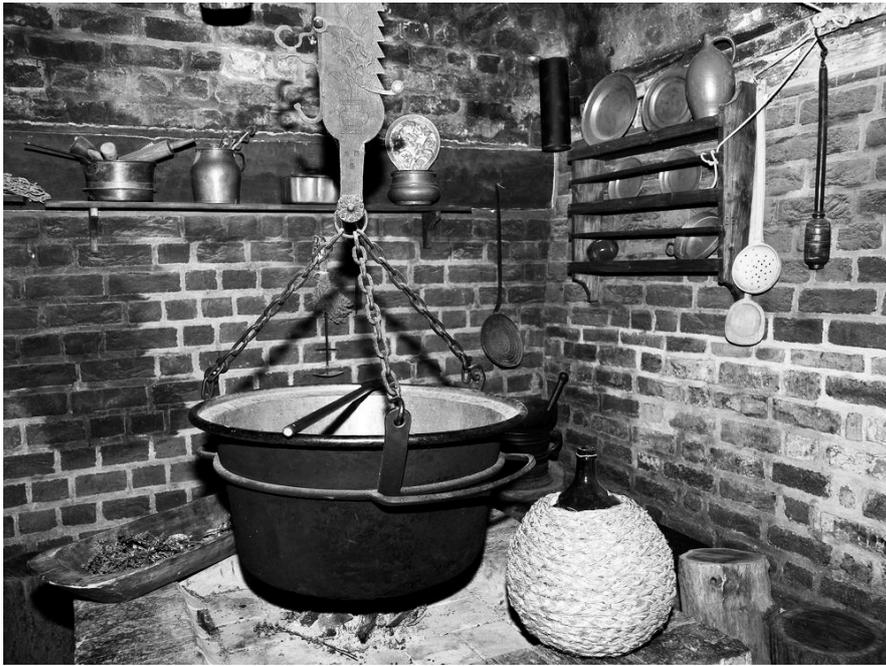

McKING: THE NEW RESTAURANT IN YOUR AREA

HOCUS POCUS HOUSEWIVES

TASTY MIXTURE CONJURED

Have you ever heard of the „boiling cauldron“, no? Now you have. The „boiling cauldron“ is a new recipe invented by three ladies, perfect for a family dinner or cooking with friends.

At first glance it appears to be little bit odd but you have to try it, because it is a recipe to die for.

Difficulty: horrific
Portions: sufficient

ingredients

- a toad
- Slice of swamp snak
- Newts eye
- Frogs tongue
- Bat fur
- Dogs tongue
- Forked tongue of an adder
- Lizard leg
- Owls swing
- Dragon scale
- Wolfs tooth
- Shark stomage

Instructions

Throw everything in the boiling cauldron and steer and while you are at it sing a song.

SPOOKY HOROSCOPE

♈	You're gonna be the future king
♉	You're gonna suffer from hallucinations
♊	You're gonna be killed by someone who is not born by a woman
♋	You will kill your best friend
♌	You will see a moving forest
♍	Your family is gonna be killed
♎	Your head will roll
♏	You will be poisoned
♐	You will sleepwalk into your death
♑	Your children will have a glory life
♒	You will die as a legend
♓	Your dead father's ghost will show up

